

I am concerned about media becoming homogenized. If the FCC carries through with media de-regularization, then we will lose the diversity we now enjoy and depend on. Instead of presenting a variety of viewpoints, news corporations will be able to filter the news they choose to present, based on corporate interests rather than public interests. And that is very alarming.